One of the surest signs of spring, aside from the azaleas and camellias and bridal wreath, the fruit tree blossoms, the gloriously rioting wisteria, the blackberry and dewberry blossoms and such - is to spot fresher than fresher, greener than Springtime asparagus nestled among the other produce in the markets.

Fresh asparagus is my budgetary downfall, one of my budgetary downfalls each spring, but, I rationalize this (as I do with so many other things) as not really too exorbitant in price, when you consider how tasty fresh asparagus is. And, if you pare and prepare and serve it properly, you've an extra dividend, or "Lagniappe," that old Creole phrase for "that little something extra," in the form of a delectable cream of asparagus soup from the peelings and stalks.

Of course, there are those cooks who insist that the only proper way to cook fresh asparagus is to stand it upright at attention, in a special asparagus cooker, and to handle with special asparagus tongs and all that sort of nonsense which would-be gourmets spout at the drop of a cooking spoon.

Well, if you insist upon cooking it in a special cooker, according to some outdated rules, do so by all means; but you'll find that a large coffee or juice can, with both ends removed, does very well. Just put the asparagus, in the open-ended can, in the water, and proceed.

As for me, I cook fresh asparagus in a large, heavy skillet, layering the stalks (one or two layers, according to quantity.) I dash the barest bit of salt over, add a generous inch of boiling water, and bring the whole business swiftly to a boil, uncovered.

Then I cover the skillet, and cook the asparagus for only five or six or seven minutes more, just until barely, barely tender. Then I drain the asparagus and serve it, with very, very generous squeezes of fresh lemon, grindings of pepper from the mill, perhaps a bit of Romano cheese and fresh parsley sprigs for garnish and munching!

As for Hollandaise or other sauces, I reserve that for canned asparagus tips when I can't get the fresh, as I see no reason to mask the flavor of fresh asparagus with any sort of sauce.

But, of course, this advice is for asparagus properly prepared. You must first pare or scrape well, after washing and rinsing to remove the grit.

Cut off the woody or coarse stems, and reserve. I prefer to use a small, sharp knife rather than a vegetable peeler - and I have the finger scars to prove it! Trim to an even length and proceed.

When you cook asparagus this way, you don't have to allow time for the end stems to cook more, which often makes the tops mushy. As for the reserved ends and peelings, chop them up a bit, chop or quarter an onion, barely cover with boiling water and cook covered for a half hour or so, depending upon how tough they are, then drain and mash, season up a bit, add cream or milk, and there's your cream of asparagus soup.

How do I give you exact amounts for this recipe? How much fresh asparagus stalks did you buy, how many peelings and bits did you have left, and so on - after all, a recipe is only a road map, and you make your own culinary detours, don't you?

VA home loan rate drops to new low

For the eighth time in 21 months, the Veterans Administration has lowered its maximum home loan interest rate.

Effective Jan. 19, 1987, VA guaranteed fixed rate mortgages were reduced to 8.5 percent—the lowest since February 1978.

According to Jackson VA Regional Office Director Samuel J. Maramba, the trend is the largest and longest sustained drop in the rate in the 43 year history of the VA Home Loan Program. The rate has dropped a total of 4.5 percentage points since April 1985.

The decrease continues a pattern that began after September 1981 when VA rates peaked at an all-time high of 17 1/2 percent.

If there are questions about the VA home loan programs, contact the Jackson VA Regional Office between the hours of 7:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday. The toll-free number is 1-800-552-8270. If you live in the Biloxi/Gulfport area, call 432-5446; in the Meridian area, call 465-4166. The number in the Jackson area is 945-4873.

Papal Mass choir to number 350

NEW ORLEANS—The challenge of coordinating 350 voices for the performance of a Mass will be offered by Pope John Paul II during his New Orleans visit this year on the shoulders of one person.

"It's a challenge. You don't want the quality to suffer because of the quantity. To try and get 350 voices to sing in harmony is a difficult task," said papal choir director St. Mary Hilary Simpson, O.P. "But it's workable as far as numbers go."

One hundred and four sopranos, 87 altos, 70 tenors, 45 basses and 44 additional voices that were not identified on registration forms will complete the choir. The choir will rehearse at the outdoor Mass, said St. Mary Hilary, who also conducted a 300-member choir and 115-member band during a Youth Rally at the Superdome in March 1987.

"Even though that was a large choir in a lifetime opportunity for many of the choir members, the papal choir also believes this is a unique challenge and opportunity for these people. "It will be a marvelous opportunity to sing in such a large choir, and they will have a direct magical part in the Mass."

Hancock Chapter, American Cancer Society reorganized

Reorganization of a Hancock County chapter of the American Cancer Society was kicked off on Tuesday at a meeting of a seven-member core group of volunteers and two society staffers.

State public relations director Jim Fulton and area director Sandra Connaway outlined the service, public education and fund-raising activities of local affiliates.

Hancock County Sheriff Ronnie Peterson served as interim chairman until officers are elected, expected at the group's next meeting on Tuesday, April 4 at the Waveland Recreation Center.

A committee was appointed consisting of Peterson, Mary G. Caillier of Clarendon Harbor, and Dorothy C. Bessy of Waveland.

Henderson Point accident fatal to Gulfport man

The Mississippi Highway Patrol in Gulfport Saturday reported a 4:40 a.m. motor accident on US-90 one mile west of Henderson Point resulted in fatal injuries to a 34-year-old Gulfport man.

Investigating Trooper Houston Donahue identified the victim of the one-car accident as Robert Ellzey of 821 Wanda Place.

A passenger in the 1971 Porche driven by Ellzey was taken by Mobile Medic to Hancock Medical Center.

She was identified as Rachel Thibe, 31, of Bay St. Louis.

Donahue reported the accident was a result of "speeding too fast for conditions."

Diamondhead Little Theatre

issues cast call

Tryouts for the Diamondhead Little Theatre's next dinner theatre production will be held at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, March 31 in the Diamondhead Community Center.

"A Bad Year for Tomatoes," a comedy in two acts, will be directed by Ed Scanlan.

The cast calls for four mature women, two mature men and a third man of any age.

The story line features a retired actress trying to write her memoirs in solitude, a comedy she finds very difficult to do.

Her inventiveness in coping with nosy neighbors only leads to deep and deeper trouble and plenty of laughs.

The show will be on in the Diamondhead Country Club on June 10, 11, and 12.

Production assistants will also be needed; persons willing to help should attend the tryouts or contact one of the officers or other Board member.

New officers of the Little Theatre group are Arthur C. "Ricky" Thorp, president; Brierley Acker, vice-president; Edna Blackwell, secretary; and Lee Fredian, treasurer.

Other Board members elected are Peter Smith, technical advisor; Robert Plugfelder, set design and construction; and Jean Keen, publicity.

ETV Brief

WILD AMERICA
 Because of their shyness and their extraordinary senses, owls are very seldom sighted, much less filmed. But "Wild America" persevered, and a half-hour documentary, "Owls: Lords of Darkness," was the result.

First aired as part of "Wild America's" 1963-64 season, "Owls: Lords of Darkness" will be rebroadcast at 8:30 p.m. Thursday, April 2 on Mississippi ETV.

As birds of prey they are an important link in the natural chain of life. Their extremely efficient talons and their soundless flight, owls are the undisputed champions of the night hunters.

One sign could cut Highway 603 traffic

A Bay St. Louis resident came by the office on Friday morning with a suggestion which could relieve some of the traffic on Highway 603.

All it would take is a sign on the east-bound side of I-10 at the Hwy. 607 exit indicating Hwy. 607-US-90 as the route to Bay St. Louis.

Motorists not familiar with the area now remain on I-10 until they reach the Bay St. Louis sign at the Hwy. 603 intersection.

This places unnecessary traffic traveling south on Hwy. 603.

The installation of a sign for Bay St. Louis on I-10 prior to Hwy. 607 would not cost very much and it would reduce the number of vehicles on dangerous Hwy. 603.

To us it seems the officials of Bay St. Louis themselves would be trying to have such a sign placed on the Interstate to make it more convenient for visitors.

Since Bay St. Louis is the county seat, it appears our Board of Supervisors would prefer motorists having a four-lane drive into town rather than on a two-lane hazard.

The Mississippi State Highway Department, with the recent number of fatalities on Hwy. 603, should be seeking every means of limiting the number of vehicles on that highway.

Matters of Health

ALCOHOL USE AMONG TEENS

Q: I've become concerned about my son's drinking lately. He's only 15, but I've noticed some signs of alcohol use after he's been out with his friends. I'm especially concerned because soon all of these young people will begin to drive. What can I do about this problem without making my son feel isolated from his mother and me?

A: Alcohol tops the list of the most abused drugs in this country and its misuse among teens is a growing problem for many. Studies estimate nearly one-third of all high school students who drink are getting into trouble with the drug - that is, it adversely affects school performance as well as creates destructive and violent behavior.

Alcohol is the leading factor in both fatal and nonfatal traffic accidents involving teenage drivers. Surveys indicate that children are drinking earlier and more frequently. One survey shows that more than one-third of sixth graders have tried beer and wine - nearly 10 percent of them have tried hard liquor.

Older teenagers, however, began drinking later, with fewer than 15 percent having tried beer or wine by the sixth grade. The reasons given for drinking also differed between sixth graders and high school seniors.

The older students drank to "relax" and for social reasons, while younger children drank for the "high." These feeling-states are probably identical but interpreted differently by people of different age and experience.

Teenagers are influenced by their peers, by parents, by television and other media, and by many other factors. Parents lay a large role in determining their children's attitudes toward drinking. These attitudes develop over a long period of time, so parents leave their mark from the beginning.

Raising a child with a strong self-image is probably the single most important step a parent can take. An intact ego goes a long way toward helping a child resist social pressures that may lead to undesirable social behaviors.

The very young child should be loved and encouraged. Continued support of the child's efforts will help him later in school and in developing "relationships" with others. Parental love should always be evident.

From early childhood, parents should strongly express their disapproval of heavy drinking and drunkenness to their child. Concerns and problems should be discussed openly yet without lecturing. And further, by example, parents should demonstrate the wise and restrained use of alcohol.

Parents should be especially attentive to their child's use of alcohol and driving. Money for a car or the offer to pick them up if they're incapable of driving after a party should show your concern.

For signs of possible drinking problems in a child, parents should notice sudden mood swings - from angry outbursts to withdrawn behavior, deterioration in school or job, changes in dress and appearance - from fairly neat and clean to disheveled and dirty, physical evidence of drug or alcohol use, staying out late or being away from home for long periods and new friendships with people known to use drugs or abuse alcohol.

This "Matter of Health" was prepared in cooperation with psychiatrists on staff of the University Hospital - the teaching hospital for the University of Mississippi Medical Center and the referral center for all of Mississippi. Readers may suggest future topics by writing to "Matters of Health," the University of Mississippi Medical Center, 2500 North State Street, Jackson, MS 39216-4505.

LET ME OUT!—Sam Peraciaro was a 'Jail & Bail' victim last year for the Hancock County March of Dimes benefit. This year Peraciaro feels he will not be 'locked up' since he is the general chairman for big March of Dimes 'Jail & Bail' set for Wednesday, April 1 and Thursday, April 2. Peraciaro says anyone interested in having 'warrants' issued for someone special can do so prior to the event by calling 467-5324 and making a $10 contribution. The 'jail' will be located at Winn-Dixie Food Store in Bay St. Louis. Peraciaro reported on Saturday he was out to double the amount collected at last year's 'Jail & Bail' in Hancock County. "Last year everyone who participated in this 'fun' fund-raising drive really enjoyed themselves, and I hope everyone will realize how important the March of Dimes programs are for our citizens," Peraciaro added. Telephones will be available for 'arrestees' to contact their friend to help raise their 'bail.' Cokes will be available for 'arrestees.' For those arrested, transportation to return home after raising bond will be provided courtesy of area new car dealers.

Housekeeping

Weekly Summary from

Mississippi House of Representatives

By Andrew Reese
House Information Officer

JACKSON— The 1987 legislative session is moving into its closing stages following last week's approval by the House of Representatives of more than 100 appropriation bills and final action on a sweeping revision of state laws dealing with regulation of property and casualty insurance rates.

Viewed as one of the most important bills of the session, the insurance proposal is an attempt to provide more competitive rates and shifts responsibility for regulating property and casualty rates to the Commissioner of Insurance, an elected official, while doing away with the appointive three-member Insurance Commission.

Another major provision calls for creation of a Rural Risk Underwriting Association to assure that people in rural areas are able to obtain adequate insurance protection. All insurance companies authorized to write property insurance in Mississippi would be required to participate in the pool to offer coverage in high-risk rural areas.

The legislation provides that property and casualty insurance rates in Mississippi will be based on a "file and use" open competition procedure, rather than the prior approval system now used; modifies the functions of the State Rating Bureau; requires insurance companies to file detailed financial reports on a yearly basis, including net gains or losses, expenses, and investment income; and specifies that rates "shall not be excessive, inadequate or unfairly discriminatory."

The measure, originally passed by the House last month, was based on recommendations of a special insurance task force in an attempt to help stabilize rates and give consumers a broader choice in buying property and casualty insurance. A number of technical revisions were adopted by the Senate but the basic provisions remained unchanged, and the House agreed last week to concur in the Senate amendments. There were no dissenting votes.

A total of 118 appropriations won House approval last week, including increased funding for the state's hard-pressed universities and junior colleges in the coming year. In most instances, the bills were assigned to House-Senate conference committees to resolve differences between the chambers.

Both chambers have agreed on a plan to give most state employees pay raises of either 4 percent or a minimum of $100 a month, whichever is greater. It will be the first salary hike for state workers in two years. The House approved a comparable increase of 5.5 percent for faculty and staff members at the universities and junior colleges.

The action on salaries followed a decision earlier this month by the Legislative Budget Committee and Fiscal Management Board to boost revenue estimates by approximately $45 million for the coming year.

In other recent developments, lawmakers received a briefing by the governor last week on the state's bid to get a $6 billion federal research facility, the Superconducting Super Collider (SSC). The SSC, designed for high-energy physics experiments, involves a proposed 52-mile oval tunnel to be used in atom-smashing research.

The governor landed legislators for their work during the past three years in clearing the way for industrial and economic growth with such landmark bills as the 1986 Business Investment Act, the Technology Transfer Center approved in 1985, and the statewide banking law.

Other measures receiving final approval last week included bills to authorize a new program by the Department of Education to screen public school students for spinal curvature; provide for licensing of social workers by the Board of Health; and designate the Fourth of July as a free-fishing day, letting Mississippians and visitors go fishing on that day without a license.

The House also approved bills to expand a law to encourage development of small businesses; authorize up to $10 million in bonds if needed for the Institute of Technology Development, a nonprofit agency working to bring high-tech industry to the state; and modernize the state's business laws in line with the recommendations of a special task force on business law reform.

Both chambers voted to override the governor's veto of a bill involving utility services in newly annexed areas. The bill prevents municipalities from using powers of eminent domain to take over utility services from private companies in annexed areas without prior approval of the Public Service Commission. The bill now becomes law despite the governor's objections.

Numerous bills were referred to conference committees to resolve House-Senate differences before the 90-day session ends next week. The session is due to adjourn by April 5 unless an extension is necessary.

There will be a March of Dimes 'Jail & Bail' on Wednesday and Thursday.

Sam Peraciaro, chairman, is assisted by Mary Lerner for the 1987 fund raising event co-sponsored by Coca-Cola and headquarters will be at Winn-Dixie Food Store in Bay St. Louis.

Many of us were 'behind bars' for the 'Jail & Bail' last year.

The March of Dimes received very good support from the area residents last year and it is hoped they will again receive the same support.

The big finale for the Hancock County Justice Facility was the transfer of inmates on Friday.

Everything went on schedule without any hitches.

So the Hancock County Criminal Justice Facility is now in full operation.

The Annual Mississippi Gulf Coast Pilgrimage continues this week.

Today's activities are focused around Long Beach.

The big day for the Bay-Waveland Garden Club will be on Thursday followed by Diamondhead on Friday.

A lot of out of town as well as visitors from other states are scheduled to visit the many homes open for the Pilgrimages in our area.

The many people who are opening their homes for the Pilgrimage have spent a lot of time and effort in making preparations for this big event.

The tours are free, and we hope many of our local residents will show their appreciation by visiting some of the homes.

Visiting hours and a location map are on Page 1-B of this issue of The Echo for your convenience. We hope to see you at the Pilgrimage.

The recent warm weather has increased the use of our sand beaches.

This is a good reason for our motorists to be more careful while traveling Beach Boulevard, especially where there is a group of people.

Motorists should also note the speed limit signs, as many new ones have been placed in Bay St. Louis.

Many youngsters are now practicing for Little League, T-Ball, and other games at area ball fields. This means many boys and girls will be traveling back and forth on bicycles and motorists should watch out for them.

Speed limits are always reduced by ball fields and it is hoped all motorists will observe them.

News From The Governor's Office

Gov. Bill Allain

Mississippi students proud of state

We have just concluded the judging of the first Mississippi Ambassadors poster and essay contest based on the theme of "Why I'm Proud of Mississippi." The competitions were open to state school students in kindergarten through sixth grade for the poster contest and seventh through 12th grades for the essay contest.

I was overwhelmed by the response we received to this effort to increase our young people's awareness of the good things in Mississippi. We had more than 500 entries in the contest. The four winners will be honored with a Mississippi dinner with their parents and teachers at the Governor's Mansion on April 14.

I wish each of you could see all the entries in this contest or read the essays. If you could, you'd have no doubt about the future of this state.

Our children are proud of their home state and they know what's going on here. Their teachers did an excellent job in preparing them about the products, assets and people of this state.

Many, many excellent selling points for Mississippi occurred in these entries. The students touted our good schools, our churches, their hometowns or local regions, our seafood, our agricultural products, our waterways and our rich tradition of history.

But the most often mentioned matter of pride for them was the people of Mississippi.

The kindergarten students drew pictures of Mississippians, showing them working, playing, worshipping.

The high school students wrote in their essays about the caring attitudes of the people of Mississippi, about their friendly nature. They told of Mississippians who have excelled in their chosen fields. But, moreover, they told of Mississippians who live with a sense of purpose.

Their depictions of our state and our people are a testament to the pride and love that our children have for Mississippi.

Words of Wisdom

A man anxious for knowledge adds more to himself every minute.

Look beyond others' faults and recognize your own.

Some cause happiness wherever they go; others wherever they go.

What we do for ourselves dies with us. What we do for others and the world remains and is immortal.

Crimes are not committed in deed until they have been committed in thought.

Thinking is like living and dying. Each of us has to do it for himself.

Prayers should be the key of the day and the lock of the night.

Waveland Players' mystery-comedy to open

WAVELAND—The Waveland Players will present "The Real Inspector Hound" this Friday and Saturday and next Friday and Saturday at the Civic Center on Coleman Avenue.

The play-within-a-play mystery-comedy is by Tom Stoppard, who has won Tony awards for "Rosencrantz and Guildenstern Are Dead," "Travesties" and "The Real Thing," and whose new musical comedy, "Rough Crossing," ended its North American premiere at the Alabama Shakespeare Festival in Montgomery on Saturday.

Written as a one-act play, the Waveland production of "The Real Inspector Hound" will be performed in two short acts.

The cast includes Al Becker, Ed Craig, Alexandra McPherson, Susan Stevens, Ted Stechmann, Alice Holmes, Don L. George and Eugene Farve, and features Charlie Milford as a corpse and Ricky Thorp as the BBC radio voice.

All are veterans of community theatre stages except for Milford and George, who was active in theatre in high school and college.

Becker and Craig have the roles of theatre critics Moon and Birdfoot. Becker, who has performed with Le Petit and the Contemporary Arts Theatre in New Orleans, had the lead role in Bay St. Louis Little Theatre's 1986 production of "God's Favorite." His credits include roles in "A Spiritual Gift," "Detective Story," "Morning at Seven," "Can't Take It with You," "The Laughing," "The Odd Couple," "Thousand Clowns," "The Bedfellows," "White Sheep," "Family" and "The Pleasure of His Company." Becker also appeared in a TV series, "Mr. Vision," produced by WDSU-TV in New Orleans during the 1980s.

Craig has worked with Bay St. Louis Little Theatre, Gulfport Little Theatre and Centre Stage in Biloxi. His most recent appearance was as the professor in the Waveland Players' last production, "Bus Stop." He has also appeared in "Alaska," "Deadwood Dick," "40 Carats," "Come Blow Your Horn," "Love Sex and the IRS," "A Lion in Winter," "Barefoot in the Park," "12 Angry Men," "The Miracle Worker" and "The Barretts of Wimpole Street."

The actors in the play Moon and Birdfoot are reviewing are McPherson as Lady Cynthia Muldoon, Stevens as Felicity Cunningham, Stechmann as Magnus Muldoon, Holmes as Mrs. Drudge, George as Simon Gascoyne and Farve as Inspector Hound. McPherson's credits include roles in "The Importance of Being Earnest," "Tartuffe," "An Inspector Calls" and, most recently, the female lead, the witch Gillian, in "Roll, Back and Candle" for Bay St. Louis Little Theatre.

Stevens played the naive café singer, Charlie, in "Bus Stop," her credits also include roles in "Comedies of the Heart," "Bye Bye Birdie," "The Murder Room," "The Life of Gamma Rays on Mars," "The Marigolds," "Up the Mountain Side" and "West Side Story."

Stechmann, a frequent actor for the Waveland Players, last appeared onstage in the group's production of "Bull in a China Shop." He has also performed in numerous productions in Waveland and Bay St. Louis, including "Last of the Red Hot Lovers," "Subject to Change," "Our Town" and "The Night of January 15."

Holmes performs regularly in both Waveland and Bay St. Louis. Her credits include roles in "40 Carats," "Everybody's Girl," "Finishing Touches," "And Miss Reardon Drinks a Little," "Eat Your Heart Out," "Love, Sex and the IRS" and "Subject to Change."

Farve, whose most recent work includes "The Bad Seed" for Bay St. Louis Little Theatre and a lead role in "Rest Assured" for the Krewe of Triton, also performed with the Abington Little Theatre in Boston, Mass., where he appeared in "Bells Are Ringing."

The set for "The Real Inspector Hound" was designed and constructed by Richard Fitch and Richard Enright. John Holmes is in charge of lighting. Director is Nan Enright. Producer is Brenda Curtain time is 8:15 p.m. Tickets will be available at the door for $4.

WLOX Health Fair scheduled April 4

WLOX-TV is will again sponsor simultaneous Health Fairs at Edgewater Mall and Singing River Mall on Saturday, April 4, from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m., according to John Hain, president of WLOX-TV.

"Each year, WLOX-TV Health Fairs, with various health care organizations, are participating in this third coastwide effort to provide free health screenings for every member of the community," said Hain.

Co-chairing the WLOX-TV Health

Fair will be Barbara Salloom, director of public relations at WLOX-TV;

Neva Frith, director of community relations at Gulf Coast Community

Hospital in Biloxi; and Cynthia

Hamilton, director of community health education, Singing River

Hospital System.

"The free screenings will include blood pressure, height and weight, vision screening, color-rectal self-test kits, summary and referral by Gulf

Coast hospitals, medical societies and other emergency services,"

Neva Frith explained.

"Learning Centers will also be available to provide timely health information. She also advised that blood chemistry tests, including a cardiac risk profile, which normally cost a minimum of $50, will be provided by Damon Labs for $10 charge which covers actual expense.

The blood chemistry analysis of fast screens for the levels of total cholesterol, HDL (high density lipoprotein), a specific type of cholesterol, and glucose and provides a total cholesterol/HDL ratio

as an indicator of potential coronary risk.

A four-hour fast is recommended for this procedure; however, individuals with diabetes are advised not to fast, and anyone taking prescribed medications should continue to do so.

"The Health Fair would not be possible," said Salloom, without the outstanding participation of all the hospitals and health care organizations.

Those participating in the WLOX-

TV Health Fair at Edgewater Mall

include AMI Garden Park Community Hospital, Amery EMS, Biloxi Regional Medical Center, Coast Community Medical Center, Gulf Coast Community Hospital, Harbor Medical Center, Memorial Hospital, St. Joseph's Hospital, St. Vincent's Hospital, St. Vincent's Ambulance Service, Naval Construction Battalion Center, Navy Medical Clinic, CDC, Gulfport, U.S. Air Force Medical Center, Kessler AFB, and Veterans Administration Medical Center.

"This is our third year to participate in the WLOX-TV Health

Fair and our second to be held right here in Jackson County at Singing

River Mall," noted Cynthia

Hamilton.

Jackson County participants in the Health Fair include Singing River

Hospital System, Singing River

Hospital, Ocean Springs Hospital,

Singing River Medical Society, and Amery EMS.

"Volunteers are really gracious with their time," said Barbara Salloom. "Personnel from the hospital and medical staffs and hospital employees who provide their technical and professional expertise deserve recognition."

"Our deep appreciation to each individual as well as health care providers who helped bring this vast array of health resources together for the WLOX-TV Health Fair," Salloom said. "Only through their efforts could we have staged these

Health Fairs to provide valuable free screenings and health awareness that could conceivably save the lives of hundreds of people who may be unaware that any health problem exists."

"Approximately 1,000 people were screened at Edgewater Mall last year and over 1,000 at Singing River

Mall. This year we expect to reach over 2,000 individuals with the simultaneous Health Fairs. If we can continue to be in the health and well-being of every one person, we will consider the WLOX-TV Health

Fair a major success," Salloom said.

Every man is Napoleon to him, hence the dog's reputation.

on an in-house basis, monitoring spending and limiting the amount that Johnson can spend without board authorization.

The supervisors have not yet tried the four-day workweek option, which Perniciaro contends would create such a hardship on employees that the county would lose workers to other jobs.

The board has also shifted some of the financial burden from road and bridge to other accounts.

According to Chancery Clerk Michael Nicaise, bridge construction funds were low until the county's final carryover from last year, $80,000, became available for spending, leaving Johnson about $13,000 per month to spend.

He has been spending about $12,000 per month from that account, Nicaise said.

The board is expected to discuss the matter at the April 6 meeting, but is continuing efforts to save road and bridge funds.

For example, the board agreed Friday to allow Johnson to spend money on parts for the repair of a large bulldozer and a smaller dozer damaged during the clean-up that followed two 1985 hurricanes, but the money will come from seawall taxes.

The board can legally use seawall funds because both machines are primarily used for beach or beach-related work, Board Attorney Gerald Gex said.

Johnson said parts for the large machine will cost about $3,000 and about half that for the other machine, both of which will be repaired by county workers.

The board has agreed to do one road project that had been delayed, correction of a traffic circle problem in Diamondhead that Ladner called "dangerous," but the money for the project will come out of the remainder of the county's revenue sharing account.

The April 6 meeting will begin at 9 a.m. in the upstairs boardroom of the Hancock County Courthouse.

Garden Club members at the Hospitality Station included Opal Hickman, Lorraine Johnson, Bertha Morris, and Mary Floyd, with Charlotte Simmons and Dianne Calhoun at the Visitors Center. Polly Ramsey and Rose Uram from Bay-Waveland were also at the Visitors Center. The Bay-Waveland Pilgrimage is scheduled for Thursday, April 2 and Diamondhead's is set for Friday, April 3. March of Dimes JAIL & BAIL

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 1; THURSDAY, APRIL 2 9:00 A.M. - 4:00 P.M.
MARCH OF DIMES "JAIL" WILL BE IN WINN DIXIE SHOPPING CENTER

Jail and Bail is a fun-filled fundraising activity involving the "Arrest" and "Jailing" of local citizens. This is your chance to get together with family members, friends and co-workers to "Arrest" your husband, wife, boss, friends or enemies for a fee of $10.00. The "Arrestee" will never know (unless you want them to) who sent an officer of the Police or Sheriff's Department to pick them up. The "Arrestee" will be taken to a "jail" set up in Winn-Dixie in Bay St. Louis in an official car (handcuffed if necessary.) A "Judge" will pronounce sentence upon him (you have the pleasure of naming the charges) and set his bail. The "Arrestee" is then dressed in a striped jail coat and hat and placed in our "jail", where telephones are available for him to call friends to help raise bail to get him out of jail. "Bail" is in the form of MARCH OF DIMES contributions. No "Arrestee" will be kept in "jail" for more than one hour (unless we receive pledges to keep him or her there).

ASCS Report

Signup for 1987 wheat program

The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) is now accepting applications for the 1987 wheat program. Farmers who wish to participate in the program must submit an application to the local ASCS office by April 15, 1987. The program provides financial assistance to wheat producers who are unable to market their wheat at a profitable price. The assistance is based on the difference between the market price and the guaranteed price. The guaranteed price for wheat is $4.35 per bushel. The market price is determined by the ASCS. The program is available to wheat producers in the following counties: Hancock, Harrison, and St. Louis.

Despite the smallest wheat harvest in seven years, USDA predicts a record 4.0 billion bushels supply of wheat will be available during 1986-87.

Increased stocks and the expected near-record Hard Red Spring wheat crop will overshadow reduced Hard Winter wheat output, resulting in 3 billion bushels of bread wheat.

In an effort to reduce planted acreage, production, and total supplies to a level more in line with demand, Gensin said the 1987 wheat program contains a 27.5 percent acreage reduction requirement. The program requires farmers to submit an application to the local ASCS office by April 15, 1987. The program provides financial assistance to wheat producers who are unable to market their wheat at a profitable price. The assistance is based on the difference between the market price and the guaranteed price. The guaranteed price for wheat is $4.35 per bushel. The market price is determined by the ASCS. The program is available to wheat producers in the following counties: Hancock, Harrison, and St. Louis.

Producers who plant at least 50 percent of the permitted acreage to wheat and maintain the remaining permitted acreage in a conservation program will be eligible for deficiency payments of 52 percent of the permitted acreage, the same as in 1986.

Diamondhead Garden Club

At the Diamondhead Garden Club meeting of March 18, Dr. Theodore Simons, research scientist at Gulf Islands National Seashore, Davis Bayou area, gave an interesting and entertaining account of an ongoing program to reintroduce bald eagles to our area.

Project Eagle, or The Eagle Hacking Program, as it is officially labeled, is a multistate effort in which eagle eggs are hatched and chicks raised in artificial, controlled conditions; at four to six weeks the young eaglets are transferred to simulated "natural" habitats and kept safe from predators until they are ready to care for themselves, a matter of several months.

Since eagles tend to return to their original nesting areas to breed, some four years later, it is hoped that the eaglets raised here will indeed do just that.

Successes with restoring osprey and peregrine falcon populations after the depredations of man's guns and insecticides supports the hope that our national symbol can similarly be restored.

Prior to the program, anti-litter posters drawn by students at the Diamondhead Academy were displayed and judged.

Fifth-grader Aspen Trauth, awarded Best Overall, received two Dairy Queen coupon books and the honor of having her poster displayed in the restaurant.

First-prize winners from the other five grades also received a Dairy Queen coupon book. Mrs. George Kollasch, litter chairman, reported that her anti-litter program had been enthusiastically received and supported by the Academy, and thanked Mr. Clifford Russell of Dairy Queen for his generous cooperation.

Work on the Community Center atrium will be finished well before the April 3rd Pilgrimage, according to chairman Mrs. James Hobbs.

All the major work is completed already; Mrs. Hobbs expressed warm gratitude for the continuing support of community residents and administration.

Mrs. Clement Acker, juniors chairman, said that the group plans a trip to Bellingrath Gardens on April 4 and is now growing bedding plants - flowers and vegetables - to be given to club members and other friends on April 16th at the school.

Pilgrimage chairman Mrs. T.V. Fredian and Mrs. L.R. Wallace requested cookie donations for their hostesses and announced that a workshop would be held on April 2 at the home of Mrs. Hilaire Ogden to make arrangements for the homes on tour.

Chairman Mrs. H.T. Montgomery reported that the Fairway Favorite-of-the-Month had been awarded to Mr. and Mrs. Matt Hall at 563 Golf club Drive and that Mrs. Morgan Boutte's yard at 8840 Kipapa Way was chosen Garden-of-the-Month.

No Community Beautification Award was given. Mrs. George Kollasch presented the report of the nominating committee for the election of officers for 1987-89.

Gardening Southern Style

Felder Rushing takes viewers on another field trip to Callaway Gardens in Pine Mountain, Georgia. In the fifth program of Mississippi ETV's new "Gardening Southern Style" series.

"Gardening in the Raised Bed" can be seen at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, April 8, and again at 3 p.m., Saturday, April 11, on Mississippi ETV.

Viewers visited Callaway Gardens with Rushing in program three, and in this program, they receive a history of raised-bed gardening and how different variations of raised-bed gardening can be adapted for the home gardener's specific needs.

From Georgia, viewers travel with Rushing to Marshall, Texas, to Grubbs' Pottery, which claims to mass-produce the largest clay pots in the United States. Grubbs' pots also have another distinction: they are white instead of the usual clay red.

Back home in Jackson in the greenhouse, viewers get a few suggestions for protecting plants from a late-season frost.

"Gardening Southern Style" is a production of Mississippi Educational Television and is being distributed to other public television stations around the southeast by the Southern Educational Communications Association (SECA).

Health providers observing Doctors Day

Hancock Medical Center will be joining hospitals across the country in honoring their physicians on Monday, which is designated as Doctors Day.

Since the first Doctors' Day was initiated by the Barrow County, Ga. Women's Auxiliary in 1933, communities throughout the nation have adopted March 30 to honor local physicians.

Home Health Care of South

Mississippi's branches in Piquette and Long Beach are also participating in the observance by providing coffee and doughnuts at physicians' offices.

The date March 30 was chosen because one of the most significant medical discoveries occurred on that date in 1842, when Dr. Crawford Long, M.D., of Jefferson, Ga., became the first anesthesiologist to use ether as an anesthetic.

Dr. Long was a surgical teacher at the University of Georgia. He was also a member of the American Medical Association.

"We have doctors here special," said Philip Wolfe, administrator at Hancock Medical Center, "and we will be recognizing them with a breakfast tomorrow, and we will also have them perform a red cross blood drive at Hancock Medical Center."

Hancock Medical Center has a total of 100 physicians, representing 22 specialties. He continued, "and we want to thank each and every one of them for the support of this hospital and the community."

PASSOVER RERUN

Mississippi ETV's award-winning documentary "Passover" will be rebroadcast again this Passover season at 8 p.m., Wednesday, April 8, on Mississippi ETV.

Narrated by Edward Amer and filmed on location in Israel by Mississippi Education Television, "Passover" details the history, practice and significance of Passover, celebrated each spring by Jews in remembrance of the Exodus, led by Moses, from Egypt into Israel more than 3,000 years ago. The beginning of Passover is observed at the seder, a home service centered around a special meal.

An American seder is the program's focal point. Also filmed were seders practiced by several Israeli families. The scene of another well-known Jewish seder is included: the Upper Room where Jesus and the 12 apostles participated in the Last Supper.

Other sequences shot on location in Israel show art from several rare historical Haggadahs (Passover prayer books); an Israeli dance troupe; and several geographical locations that pertain to the Passover story: the Sinai Desert, Jericho and the Western Wall, the last remaining wall of the Second Temple.

For its "Passover" production, Mississippi ETV has received a CINE Golden Eagle Certificate by the Council on International Non-theatrical Events; a Silver Award from the International Film and Television Festival of New York; a Certificate of Merit from the Chicago International Film Festival; and a Blue Ribbon at the American Film Festival. The "Passover" program logo received an Art and Design Award from the National Association of Educational Broadcasters.

ST. JOSEPH'S ALTAR—Annunciation Church, Kiln parishioners celebrated St. Joseph's Day with their first St. Joseph's Altar last weekend. The Altar contained many types of breads, baked red fish, wheat products, shrimp, crabmeat, vegetables, with about every food except those containing meats. Anna Aygello was organizer of the Altar with Antoinette Puccio and Estle Depree assisting. Members of Annunciation Parish worked two weeks in preparation of the foods. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas).

ALTAR ORGANIZER—Anna Aygello was organizer of Annunciation Church, Kiln, first St. Joseph Altar held in the school's cafeteria last weekend. The St. Joseph Altar originated in Sicily many centuries ago during a period of drought and famine. In Annunciation the people pledged to St. Joseph during his help and the celebration came and crops were saved and the Sicilian people commemorate the occasion with a St. Joseph Altar. Since the celebration is held during the Lenten Season, no meats are prepared for the celebration. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas).

BLESSING FOOD—Father Antone Lynch, pastor of Annunciation Parish, Kiln, blesses the parish's St. Joseph Altar last Saturday evening. The foods from the Altar were served last Sunday to parishioners. As custom with the Catholic Church, the remaining foods were distributed to the needy of the area. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas).

Speaking Oracle of God

By Rev. Joseph R. Minicelli

THE BIBLE says that God is the author of life and the author of death. He is the author of the life of the soul and the author of the life of the body. He is the author of the life of the mind and the author of the life of the heart. He is the author of the life of the spirit and the author of the life of the flesh. He is the author of the life of the soul and the author of the life of the body. He is the author of the life of the mind and the author of the life of the heart. He is the author of the life of the spirit and the author of the life of the flesh.

Paul wrote of the willingness of Jesus to give himself for the cross. "Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus, who, being in the form of God, thought it not robbery to be equal with God: But made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a servant, and being found in fashion as a man, he humbled himself, and became obedient unto death, even the death of the cross." (Phil. 2:5-8)

John the Baptist standing with Jesus of his disciples saw Jesus as he was and said, "Behold the Lamb of God." (John 1:35-36)

Jesus became the sacrificial lamb for the sins of mankind. Paul said, "For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be the righteousness of God in him." (II Cor. 5:21)

Does this mean all men will be saved? The answer is no. Salvation is conditional upon obedience. The writer of the book of Hebrews states, "And being made perfect, he (Christ) became the author of eternal salvation unto all that obey him." (Hebrews 5:9)

1) This statement is in conflict with the idea of universal salvation. 2) It is also in conflict with the doctrine of salvation that says if a person believes in Jesus only for a fleeting moment he is saved and cannot be lost.

3) Another conflict is with the notion that God has selected 144,000 people to eternal salvation and all others will go to hell. Which shall we accept, the philosophies of men or the inspired word of God?

Salvation comes by the grace of God through faith. Paul wrote, "For the grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: not of works, lest any man should boast."

For we are his workmanship, created in Christ Jesus unto good works, which God hath before ordained that we should walk in them." (Ephesians 2:8-10)

Grace is the unmerited favor of God. Salvation cannot be earned. It is given. Grace is conditioned on faith. Jesus said, "This is the work of God that ye believe on him whom he hath sent." (John 6:29)

So faith is a work. But what does Paul mean when he says salvation is by faith? He simply means no amount of works can earn salvation.

May we illustrate? If an automobile dealer proposes: If you will come to my place of business and take the keys of a certain car and put them in the ignition, it is yours. Do you think the one who meets those conditions has earned the car? Certainly not.

When one meets the conditions of faith, repentance, confession of faith in Christ, and baptism for the remission of sin, he has not earned salvation. He has only met the conditions laid down in the scriptures.
